

I am in opposition of using cellular phone while in flight. if there is a chance of navigational problems no matter how small I would not feel safe flying. flight attendants all ready have enough to contend with working with the general which are a rude bunch of people who would not be considerate of others around them. If a smoker can wait until the flight is over so can someone with a cell phone.